REDCO Awarded Enterprise Rose Architectural Fellow

Enterprise Rose Architectural Fellow Will Begin October 2019 to Further Develop Keya Wakpala Waíçageyapi

Mission, SD, May 31, 2019– Rosebud Economic Development Corporation (“REDCO”) is excited to welcome an Enterprise Rose Architectural Fellow to the organization for a two-year fellowship beginning October 2019. REDCO was selected from a pool of leading community development organizations committed to making a positive change in their communities. Fellows utilize innovative development and design to address issues of equity, opportunity, and sustainability in the areas they serve.

The Enterprise Rose Architectural Fellowship, an initiative of Enterprise Community Partners Inc., matches early-career architectural designers with local community development organizations, where they facilitate an inclusive approach to development to create green, sustainable, and affordable communities.

When complete, Keya Wakpala Waíçageyapi will be a safe place for all Lakota people and their neighbors who seek a unique community encouraging health, education, and helpfulness while renewing a culturally meaningful way of life. In addition to establishing homes and businesses, Keya Wakpala promotes traditional culture and language.

Rose Fellows also gain a national network of colleagues who share their passion for public interest architecture and community development. “The Enterprise Rose Architectural Fellowship will be an integral part in developing new and innovative affordable home designs at the Keya Wakpala Waíçageyapi site”, said REDCO CEO Wizipan Little Elk.
